

Clean Water Observations

I used to take it completely for granted. Without even a second thought I would:

- wash my dishes with it
- wash my car with it
- wash myself with it
- wash my clothes with it
- wash my windows with it
- wash my dog with it
- cook my food with it
- brush my teeth with it
- rinse my sinuses with it
- flush my toilets with it
- fill my swimming pool with it
- mop the floor with it
- fill balloons with it
- make ice with it
- drink it

...and yes, I would even...

- waste it

After seeing what I have seen in Sudan, Uganda, Kenya, Zambia, and now Malawi, I no longer can take clean, fresh water for granted.

Won't you join me in helping bring clean water back to the people of Malawi?
